Now in its 16th year, this annual conference brings together individuals representing academia, public health researchers and practitioners from federal and state governments as well as other industry leaders and provides a forum for collegial dialogue within and across these groups.

So please plan to join us in advancing the field of health communication, marketing, and media by becoming a featured sponsor or exhibitor at the 2022 National Conference on Health Communication, Marketing and Media.

NATIONAL PUBLIC HEALTH INFORMATION COALITION

The National Public Health Information Coalition (NPHIC) is the premier network of public health communicators in the United States and U.S. territories. We are committed to “making public health public” by sharing our knowledge, expertise and resources to effectively communicate about the important health issues of the day – helping people lead healthier lives in healthier communities.

Many of our members represent state and local health departments, whether as directors of communication, health marketing specialists, risk communication specialists, community relations specialists or some related specialty. But others represent tribal nations, corporate communications, and academia—we even have student members.

All of us work together to collaborate with other health leaders to ensure that we can help promote wellness and reduce the incidence of illness injury and premature death. If you are not already a member, we hope you will consider joining us.
